NAACP Victory

The Texas Department of Motor Vehicles gave a stunning blow to the Sons of the Confederate when the board voted 8-0 to deny the symbol of the Confederate Flag to be affixed to Texas license plates. A group of civil rights advocates led by the State Conference of NAACP Units appeared at a hearing in Austin, Texas on November 10, 2011 to voice concerns that the flag represented oppression, discrimination and racism by hate groups in this country and would cause tension and fear of acts of violence and discrimination against African Americans.

The Sons of the Confederate sought to use the Buffalo Soldiers' proposal for specialty license plates as an issue for acceptance of their proposal by indicating the campaigns of the Buffalo Soldiers against the American Indians were commensurate with the Civil War fought by the Confederacy. The NAACP refuted this idea in that the Buffalo Soldiers fought under the banner of the United States while the Confederates fought against the United States.

This victory could be short-lived since the Sons of the Confederate Soldiers have filed lawsuits to retain the presence of the flag on other States' specialty license plates and on State Buildings. The State Conference of NAACP Units however, has been successful in having all symbols of the Confederacy removed from State property at the Capitol in Austin, Texas.

Redistricting Hearings

A three Federal Judge panel heard arguments covering the Redistricting lines drawn and passed by the Texas 82nd Legislative Session this summer from plaintiffs representing the State Conference of NAACP Units, MALDEF, LULAC and other civil rights organizations. The two weeks of hearings held at the Federal Building called on Congressional witnesses, some who were represented by the State NAACP Legal Team. These witnesses included Congresspersons Sheila Jackson Lee, Houston, Texas; Al Green, Houston, Texas; and Eddie Bernice Johnson, Dallas, Texas. The local President of the NAACP, Oliver Hill, was also called upon to give a deposition on the diluted effect a fifth Congressional District would have on the African American vote in Bexar County.

Several members of the San Antonio Branch covered the entire hearing proceedings. These members were Horace Brown, Jr., Ann Johnson Brown, Minnie Hill and Nettie Hinton. In addition, William Johnson, Sr. attended the first session. The arguments for the all-day sessions by the Plaintiffs were to show that the State-drawn maps were politically motivated. Even though four new districts were gained in Texas as a result of the increase in population, the Legislative body drew lines that either fractured, packed, or cracked communities that prevented minorities from being able to elect a representative of choice.

Section 63.0012, Texas Election Code

From the President's Pen

The first year of this administration is fast coming to an end and I am grateful for the gains that have been made, yet somewhat disappointed that more could not have been accomplished. I am grateful to the hard and difficult work that our volunteers have made thus far, those who are committee chairs and their committee members, and those who volunteer weekly to perform administrative duties in the office to help move this organization forward.

Although there are times that dark clouds appear to be hovering over our attempts to change the dynamics of this community, I continue to receive encouragement from the most uncommon places resulting in renewed and reenergized efforts to continue the works of this organization.

Our goal for next year is to continue the Fire Fighters Examination Training, continue advocating for the Walking Trail at the Davis-Scott YMCA, hold quarterly meetings with the San Antonio Police Department, make further attempts on ban-the-box initiative to help ex-offenders seeking employment, and a very strong effort for voter empowerment which includes voter registration and voter education.

These are just a few of the initiatives we believe will be successful during 2012 and we can be more successful, when, not if, a few more members volunteer to give a few hours of their time each month in committee work to help these initiatives. We look forward to hearing from you.

As I close, I want to wish each of you and your family members a Merry Christmas and a very prosperous New Year. I pray an abundance of good health and peace for each of you in the New Year.

Sincerely,

Oliver

Highlights 102nd Annual Convention

More than 2,000 delegates, Alternates and observers attended the National Convention of the NAACP held in Los Angeles, California July 23 through July 28, 2011. The convention was highly motivational by the enthusiasm captivated by the speakers and the workshops that were presented. The theme "Affirming America's Promise" was permeated throughout the convention sessions, reminding the delegates that the promise has not been fulfilled even though many gains in civil rights have been made. Racism, prejudices, bigotry and inequality continues to plague this country because of race, gender, and age inequality and unfairness.

During the Region VI Caucus, in which Texas is a part, members of the San Antonio Branch were elected to several posts. Mr. Horace Brown, Jr. was elected to the Resolutions Committee, Mrs. Marvinette Smith was elected to the Rules Committee and Mrs. Dorothy Collins was elected as a Sergeant-at Arms member. Additionally, the President of the Texas State Conference of Branches, Attorney Gary Bledsoe, was Region VI's nominee for the National Board of Directors.

A special Plenary Session was held in which it was a "wake-up" call to remind NAACP members of the climate in these United States relative to equal rights, civil rights, and an apparent effort to "turn the clock back." It was implied the Supreme Court opened the door on an assault on voter enfranchisement, trying to ensure political dominance because of the ruling to allow unlimited contributions by corporations. Throughout the discussion, the consensus of the panelists was that the 42 cases of Voter ID Laws that crept up after the 2010 elections were not coincidental. Several ideas were presented that are to be enacted at the Branch and Unit levels.

Throughout the convention, emphases were placed on Voter apathy, economic, education and health conditions that are impacting African Americans disproportionately. There was a cry to all members of the organization to become fully engaged in these areas to further meet the goals of the organization of assuring equality for all persons.

The Freedom Fund-Thalheimer-Spingarn Awards Dinner closed the 102nd Annual Convention. The Thalheimer Awards recognized Branches throughout the country that exemplified outstanding achievements in the areas of civil rights and equality/fairness. The 96th Spingarn Medal was presented to Mrs. Frankie Muse Freeman in recognizing her public service, which included being the first woman Commissioner of the United States Commission on Civil Rights, serving for 16 years under four successive U.S. Presidents, and for her vital role in the landmark case Davis et al v the St. Louis Housing Authority, which ended legal racial discrimination in Public Housing.

The 102nd Annual Convention closed sine die.

The Plaintiffs, upwards in numbers twenty between Attorneys and Interveners, continued to present strong evidence that the increase of four Congressional Districts did not increase a minority District or attempt to have a district where minorities could form a coalition to select a candidate of choice. The maps did, however, packed minorities in districts where a division could occur rather than the development of coalitions.

The last information that has been received was the interim maps drawn by the three-panel Judges that changed the State Legislative Districts to be friendlier to minorities and a further ruling was recently received that removed the controversial Congressional District 35 from Bexar County.

ACT-SO Winner

The San Antonio Branch delegates cheered loudly and proudly at the 102nd Annual Convention of the NAACP when it was announced that one of our ACT-SO participants won a Silver Medal in the ACT-SO competition. She is Jacqueline Jamir Thompson, a senior honor student at Keystone School and was the recipient of the highest medal offered in the category of Chemistry/Bio-Chemistry.

Jacqueline plans to enter MIT or Stanford, majoring in biochemical or biomedical engineering and then attend medical school. In addition to the ACT-SO Silver medal, Jacqueline was also named a Semi-Finalist at the 2011-2012 Siemens Foundation Competition in Math, Science and Technology, the only student recognized in San Antonio.

The Branch is extremely proud of Jacqueline and believes she will continue to excel in all that she does in the future.

The Selective Service System

The Selective Service System is an independent agency within the Executive Branch of the Federal Government, which is to provide the numbers of men needed by the Armed Forces, within the time required, should Congress and the President of the United States decide to return to a draft. Registration with Selective Service does not mean a registrant is joining the military.

With few exceptions, all male United States citizens and male aliens residing in the United States and its territories must register within 30 days of their 18th birthday.

Federal and many state laws require registration-age men to be registered with Selective Service to remain eligible for applying for the following benefits: student financial aid, government employment, employment with the U.S. Postal Service, job training, and U.S. citizenship for male immigrants.

Walkable Community Project

The Economic Development Committee, chaired by Mr. Bill Burman, has partnered with the Davis-Scott YMCA and the Metropolitan Planning Organization (MPO) to provide better and more adequate infrastructure in the eastern quadrant of the city to facilitate traveling modes for its citizenry. This initiative is to identify issues that prohibit walking, bicycling and using transit by improving sidewalks and streets for easy access by pedestrians, cyclists, and wheelchairs.

Several neighborhood associations attended planning sessions, the results of which will be used by the MPO to further engage other partners, such as the Alamo Area Council of Governments (AACOG), Bexar County, City of San Antonio (COSA), Texas Department of Transportation (TXDOT) and VIA Metropolitan Transit to bring this initiative into fruition.

75th Annual State Convention

The State Convention began with a “Red Carpet” reception held at the Fort Worth YWCA premiering a play entitled “Two Months.” The play was commissioned by the Health Committee of the Texas State Conference of NAACP Units to bring the HIV/AIDs epidemic to the attention of African Americans, who have exceeded all other races in America as having contracted the deadly disease. The actors were local talent.

The first Plenary Session, called to order by the State President, Attorney Gary Bledsoe elected persons to serve on committees. Mr. Horace Brown, Jr. and Mrs. Minnie Hill served on the Resolutions Committee and Mrs. Ann Johnson Brown served on the Credentials Committee. Other elections that took place were for positions of Election Supervisory Committee and Time and Place Committee.

The Chairperson of the Election Supervisory Committee reported no additional names were nominated for State offices and moved that the secretary cast one ballot to elect all persons on the ballot. The officers for the 2012-2013 years are:

Gary Bledsoe	President
Bob Lydia	1 st Vice President
Aubry Hooper	2 nd Vice President
Secretary	Linda Lydia
Lawrence Myer	Assistant Secretary
Terry Mills	Treasurer
Brian Rowland	Assistant Treasurer

The theme for workshops strongly emphasized the necessity for African Americans to become more engaged in the political process to ensure the elected candidates of choice have the interest of African Americans at heart. The constant reminders of the National Theme “Affirming America’s Promise” with the addition of the State’s message “Holding Texas Accountable,” led to energized discussions towards meeting the challenges facing the nation.
